

ADaM

achievement data management

Context

- College and training providers are being instructed by the LSC and Ofsted to cease data management practices which may result in the artificial increasing of reported success rates.
- Retrospective checks on ILR data are proposed to be undertaken as part of the audit and Inspection processes to highlight any potential areas of concern.
- Failure to address the above issues may trigger LSC sanctions and impact negatively on future Inspection grades.

Key benefits

- Areas of potential concern can be assessed internally in order to allow any issues arising to be investigated prior to them being raised by auditors or Inspectors.
- Pre-emptive analyses will provide time to build cases in defence of data management practices where appropriate.
- Poor data management practices (in LSC and Ofsted terms) can be highlighted and remedial action taken where appropriate.
- Potential reductions in Inspection grades (particularly in respect of Leadership and Management) may be averted.

Product overview

- Analyses any 2 LR or ER ILRs within the same funding year (e.g. F01 and F05, W01 and W13) in order to highlight any in-year changes which have been made.
- Analyses ILR data from 2007-08, 2008-09 and 2009-10.
- Assesses 8 different areas of potential concern raised by LSC and Ofsted.
- Provides a further assessment of other changes which may have an impact on LSC funding and/or success rates.
- Outputs are in PDF format with additional Excel and Access exports to allow linking back to MIS source data for further bespoke analyses to be undertaken.
- The software is simple to use with no setting up required (other than basic installation). Operation is via a wizard that walks you through the process and therefore requires no specialist skills or knowledge.
